Planned Cover was established in 1974 to provide quality professional indemnity insurance, general insurance and risk management services to protect the assets and reputations of Australian professionals.

Location

This seminar highlights some common risk areas, such as inspecting and certifying the works, product substitutions, and managing requests for information. We will look at the role of project managers and building surveyors/certifiers, and a consultant's duties regarding occupational health and safety. In conclusion, we will discuss strategies to manage the opposite scenario, when consultants are engaged on a "partial services" basis and have little or no presence during construction.
